According to plans announced by President H. L. Morrill at the meeting of the Decatur Boosters last night the above named organizations will have representatives at a big get-together meeting to be held in Decatur Monday night. Final plans for the big convention which will mean much for the future development of the Tennessee valley will be given out to the leaders before Monday night. Mr. Morrill stated that it had been his plan for a long time to hold just such a meeting, and in this meeting, if the way is opened to organize "The Tennessee Valley Commercial League" or federation, fashioned along the lines of the standard commercial organizations of the country, and with purposes governed by the needs arising since the government developments at Muscle Shoals, President Morrill was very enthusiastic in his claims for the proposed organization, and his enthusiasm was shared by every member of the Boosters Club.

A. Politynsky Does Generous Thing

For the Hilda Hotel, of which he is the owner, A. Politynsky appeared before the Boosters, and stated that he wished to turn over the Hilda for all of next Wednesday, the entire proceeds to go to the Red Cross society, half to the Decatur chapter and half to the Albany chapter. Mr. Politynsky's offer was greeted with a storm of applause and at its conclusion President Morrill said: "When we continue to have a few more such men as Mr. Politynsky there will soon be no 'old town' and 'new town'."

The patriotic offer of the popular hotel man came as a surprise, but an extremely pleasant one.

VON BERNSTORFF AND VON PAPAN INCITED THE IRISH

(International News Service)
London, May 25.—Count Von Bernstorff and Capt. Von Papan, arch German plotters in America, were involved in the conspiracy to start a revolution in Ireland in which German troops were to participate, it is officially known today as the result of issuance of a statement on the Sinn-Fein situation by the government.

This month a German submarine cruised off the west coast of Ireland ready to unload (missing) for a new revolution, it was revealed. It was planned that the German-Irish plot was to come to a head at the same time as the launching of the offensive on the western front which would be draining England of her armed forces. The arrest of a man who had been landed on the Irish coast from a German submarine and the Sinn-Fein leaders, nipped the conspiracy in the bud.

The big Red Cross parade first planned by the brotherhoods of the railroad shops after two postponements, will be "pulled off" Monday night. But for the two postponements already, the parade would likely have marched over the route previously announced on next Tuesday night so as to include the Red Cross workers and citizens of Decatur.

After it was planned for the two cities to march shoulder to shoulder in the army of mercy, it was learned when too late, that on Monday night the Decatur Boosters were to entertain several out-of-town commercial organizations, including that of Albany, and so could not execute plans and enter the great pageant—a thing regretted by hosts of people in the two towns.

One and possibly two bands will be employed, the parade moving to martial strains. One of the features of the occasion will be the appearance of the union men in solid phalanx, bearing appropriate banners. The line of march will be announced in the Daily Monday.

Alleged Deserter Is Arrested By Military Police

Guy Sykes, alleged deserter from the U. S. army, was returned to Birmingham today. He was placed under arrest yesterday afternoon at his country home by Deputy Sheriff Sid Williams and four members of the military police from Birmingham. Sykes offered no resistance.

It had been reported that the soldier had refused to surrender and that he had threatened to "fight it out here." This rumor was responsible for the sending of special men to this county to make the arrest.

May Compromise Revenue Question

Washington, May 25.—The House ways and means committee this afternoon sought to reach an agreement on a compromise to be presented to President Wilson that would postpone action on new revenue legislation until November.

Information from the white house was that if an acceptable proposal was submitted by which new revenue legislation at this session could be avoided, the president would be inclined to compromise.

Two feature attractions appear on today's Chautauqua program. These are the first appearance here of Mme. Lillian Ringsdorf, prima donna, and her company, in a musical entertainment, and the lectures to be delivered afternoon and night by Prof. Maynard Lee Daggy. This afternoon Prof. Daggy delighted with his lecture, "Challenge of the Twentieth Century" and tonight he will give "Polish Folks." He is one of the most eloquent speakers on the American platform.

The Chautauqua offers for Sunday a popular concert by the Smith-Spring-Holmes company. Two of the headliners, Clay Smith and G. E. Holmes, are composers of note. Mr. Holmes composed the "Prospector" march, played at the St. Louis exposition by an orchestra of 1,000 pieces. One of Mr. Smith's musical successes is now bringing him large royalties from the Victrola people, Miss Spring of this company is a dramatic reader of unusual ability, while Miss Lota Spring plays the cello and Miss Alma Forsythe the violin.

"Health and How to Keep It" is the subject of the lecture Sunday by Louise L. McIntyre, for ten years superintendent at Winona Lake. Mrs. McIntyre, an invalid, was herself cured by a series of simple exercises, and in her lecture she demonstrates these and others that are of value to those suffering from many physical ailments.

AMERICAN DESTROYER AVENGES ONE LOSS

Germans Extend The Area Of Bombardment On The Double Front

For the second time the Germans have extended the area of their tremendous gas bombardment in the sector of Bethune to the southern end of the Flanders battle front. At first it was confined to the districts immediately north of Bethune, but later the German guns began to hammer the British positions in the Nieppe forest.

Throughout last night the Germans turned their attention to the zone lying due east of Bethune and now it is being drenched with deadly fumes. In addition to the German gas shelling the big guns are thundering on other parts of the Picardy and Flanders fronts.

If the Germans have not completed their preparations for a renewal of the drive they must be nearly over with it by this time. Bethune is an important British position and it is probable that the Germans will make strong efforts to capture it when they renew their drive.

It is known that his preparations have been completed for over a week. His army is stagnant and we know what generally follows stagnation."

The names of the missing will be made public as soon as verified.

Fifty-four of the Americans are still missing, including two corporals. Capt. Johnson, commander of the Moldavia, in an interview, given out today, praised the courage of the young American soldiers. Gen. Biddle, at London headquarters of the American forces, congratulated the American officers and men upon their soldierly bearing during the ordeal.

The ship listed severely to the port side, but righted herself and ran on for fifteen minutes before going down. In that time she made about five knots. The soldiers were taken off with but a single mishap. Half a dozen of them got a wetting when they slipped from a life raft.

The high school auditorium of Decatur was taxed to capacity last night when the above class, and the one under the efficient superintendency of Prof. J. Floyd Collins, graduated.

Dr. Geo. Stoves of Huntsville, who stirred an Albany audience recently in the Second Liberty Loan drive, delivered the commencement oration from the subject: "The Life While." The distinguished divinity first on the need of physical conservation. He said the time soon when it would be disastrous to be sick. Forty per cent of military service last year indicated a dangerous situation for America according to the speaker. He said that typhoid and malaria were due to carelessness, and not so much to contagion. "But a good body with a mind is valueless. Tuscaloosa ins asylum holds many good physical specimens. The ravages of war to our best. Never was there a time when there was such a premium on education.

"But body and mind are not enough. Col. Ingersoll had these to perfect but he was a spiritual dwarf; so Napoleon. German Kultur is a of body and mind gone wrong for lack of a proper spirit, or personal behind these." It was shown the life of service was the life worth while.

Dr. Stoves was received with enthusiasm by his large audience, who held their attention throughout the eloquent address.

In a few apt words Supt. Collins opened the exercises by announcing the following program for the evening:

Song, "Love, I Have Won You Miss Flora Gardner.

Song, "O, Come With Me in Summer Night"—Miss Gertrude Johnson.

This was preceded by prayer by Stoves. At the close of the commencement address Miss Roberta H. sang to the great pleasure of her audience, "Prelude" by Ronald. The fifteen diplomas were delivered by Dr. Collins, concluding the program.

A LESSON FOR SLACKERS
If only the few slackers in Albany
and Decatur could grasp the full importance of the following incident which is reported in the Committee on Public Information's official bulletin for May 18:
The following statement was given out at the White House:
Linn F. Hanson, a young man of about 25 years of age, owned and farmed 240 acres of land a short distance north of Wayne, Neb. Last summer and fall he conceived the idea that it was his duty to heed the call of his country. He thereupon sold his personal property, live stock and grain, and with the proceeds sent a check for $3,800 direct to Washington for the American Red Cross; purchased a Liberty Bond for $1,000; and contributed $1,000 toward the construction of a new church. He then enlisted in the Canadian aviation service. He is now a member of Company G, 43rd Infantry, Pensacola, Fla.
Since his enlistment he has purchased $4,500 worth of the third Liberty Loan.
The president on May 13 wrote
Mr. Hanson as follows:
"Indirectly through a friend, I have learned of all the circumstances of your joining the military forces of the United States,
and I want to express my admiration of the spirit which prompted your action and prompted your whole course in connection with leaving your farm and throwing in your fortunes entirely and unreservedly with the great country
we all love and seek to serve."

this speaker:
Every man, woman and child in Albany should hear Montaville

Alvin Hubbard Writes
From Across Pond

Tells of Weather and Other Things
in France
Alvin J. Hubbard has written the following interesting letter to his mother here:
Somewhere in France,
April 26, 1918.
Dear Mama and All:
Will write you a few lines to let you know I haven't forgotten you and hope this will find you all well and having a good time.
Both your letters came today and was so glad to hear from you so soon again. This leaves me just fine and am still having a good time.
We have been having some rainy weather for the last ten days but the sun is shining today and is much warmer here. Am hoping we don't have any more bad weather here. I guess you're having real summer
time in Alabama now, aren't you?
Wouldn't mind being there this summer. Think I would spend part of my time at the lake fishing or on the creek. How about Floyd Vest?
Is he still in Birmingham or is he in the army. I saw in the paper where he was called for examination. Did he pass? Would like to run across him if he comes over here but don't guess he will have to come if he is in "four." Guess we can do what's to be done over here. We are going to do our part anyway and stay to the finish.
How's brother by now? O. K. I hope. Is Charlie working for St.
George now or has he still got his car. I am expecting a new one when I come home. What is Ernest Lee doing now. Guess he is in Sheffield as everyone goes where he gets the most money. If I wasn't in the army
I would be there.
I am going to take a two months'
trip when I get there. I haven't heard from Ada and Dick yet. Looks like they could write a fellow. Mama,
I haven't been sick a day since I left home and am getting the best there is to eat, so don't worry one minute about me but I wish you would send me some cigarettes every week or ten days as it is impossible to get good cigarettes over here. Send Camels when you send them. Mama, don't worry if you don't get a letter from me when you think you ought to, for I write to you regular, sometimes three or four times a week. We have more time to write now than we do when we are in the trenches. We can't write so often then. I'm getting the paper regular and want you to go and subscribe for it six months more for me. Go before it runs out for I enjoy reading it so much. I get all the news. Give the boys my love and also dear old Dad.
Write me real often and tell me all the news.
Your son,
ALVIN J. HUBBARD.

Joseph M. McCrory
Hears American Girl

Soldier Boy in France Writes of Y. M. C. A. Treat
The Albany-Decatur Daily:
Here is a letter I received from my brother, Joseph M. McCrory, now in France. You may publish it.
Mrs. Virginia Clark.
Somewhere in France,
April 28, 1918.
Dear Sister:
Just received your letter this afternoon. This is Sunday night, and it has been raining here today.
Hope you all are well. Give Cap-tolia my love and tell her it is just about time for her to write me another letter.
After my second turn in the trenches I am still having good health and a good appetite. Wish I was there to eat some of those green beans and peas. You know how fond I am of such eats.
Lesley is O. K. You were speaking in your other letter about Presley Shelton. I would like to see the old boy. Guess he is just as fat as ever. I received Callie's letter before I did yours. She said you all had just started me a box. I have not received it yet but will write you as soon as I get it.
Guess you are having nice weather in Alabama now. How are Minnie and Annie? All well, I hope. I guess Raymond is almost large enough to come to the front in his mind. I received a box of smoking material
from a boy in Arizona not long ago.
But I never did get the cigarettes.
Robert sent me in November. There were two American girls here and sang for us at the Y. M. C. A. a few nights ago. It was quite a treat for us to see an American girl in the war zone. The Red Cross and Y. M. C. A.
are doing a great work over here.
Well, I don't know much news to write so will close for this time. Give my love to all and answer soon to Your loving brother,
Private Joseph M. McCrory,

RESULTS SHOWN OF
MANY TESTS OF CORN
AS MADE AT AUBURN

By E. F. Cauthen, Associate Agriculturist.
Variety tests of corn at Auburn covering a period of twenty-two years show that some varieties lead or are among the leaders every year. These leading varieties are not the very early nor the extremely late ones; they are intermediate, requiring from one hundred thirty to one hundred forty-five days from date of planting to time of fully ripening.
The type of plant is closely related to yield. When the varieties are classified into groups according to the number of ears per plant, it is noticed that the group having a tendency to produce two or more ears per plant, loads in production and that it is followed closely by a medium prolific group and less closely by the non-prolific group.
The relative number of ears and nubbins that a variety produces is largely an inherent character of the variety, but it may depend upon the seasons, fertility of the land and other factors. In the eleven years that Mar-boro was tested, it never grew ears and nubbins so large that it did not require one hundred thirty-eight, or more to shell a bushel of grain. On the other hand, Shaw, a large ear variety, never produced ears and nubbins so small that it required over one hundred ten to shell a bushel.
Averaging the average yields of the prolific, medium prolific, and non-prolific varieties of each year, grown at the Alabama Experiment Station covering a period of eleven years, the prolific varieties yielded thirty-four bushels, medium prolific 33.1 bushels,
and non-prolific 31.6 bushels per acre.
The large ear varieties have a larger per cent of cob and husk than most prolific varieties. The average percent of grain on shucked ears and nubbins is about 82. Many of the prolific or medium prolific like Mosby, Hastings, Sanders, Alexander, Whatley, etc., have 85 percent of grain or more, while some of the large ear varieties have less than 80.
The question is often asked, "What is the best variety to plant?" In the table of yields covering eleven years,
it is noticed that the leading variety
one year may not lead the next year, because conditions favorable for it may not prevail. However, those varieties that have led or have been among the leaders a number of years
can be recommended.
Among the most productive varieties of each eleven years, in the Alabama Experiment Station tests, Hastings and Mosby each were included
six times; Sanders and Alexander prolific each five times; Unimproved Henry Grady three times; Weekley, Garrie, and Improved Henry Grady each two times; and Stone, Shaw, Davis
Poor Land, Jackson Red Cob, Coker
E-1, and McGregor each one time.
Results of these tests are being published in bulletin No. 200 of the Alabama Experiment Station.

The American Red Cross

The Call From No Man's Land

The Spending of Your Hundred Million Dollars

Busiest Budget in All the World Is a Red Cross War Fund—Every Dollar Spent Alleviates Misery.

By WILL PAYNE

Last summer the public subscribed a hundred million dollars to the Red Cross. At the latest statement over eighty-five millions of it had been appropriated.

Where has it gone? you ask. For many months the world has been spending over a hundred million dollars a day for the destruction of life, limb and means of subsistence. Call up what you have read about the war's devastation. The American Red Cross' enormous job is to do whatever it can to alleviate that—not after the war, not after governments have deliberated and resolved; but right now, at the minute, on the spot. It's amazing that it has done so much with so little money.

Last autumn the Italian army fell back precipitately. On your war map that meant rubbing out one line and drawing another half an inch further south. Over there in Italy it meant thousands of poor families fleeing from their homes. Major Murphy, Red Cross Commissioner in Europe, rushed to the scene and wired: "Indescribably pathetic conditions exist, involving separation of mothers and children, cold, hunger, disease, death." In November and December the American Red Cross appropriated three million dollars for relief there—a large sum, yet small in comparison with the need.

Condensed Milk for Children.

Soldiers are only a part of the Red Cross' work—probably the smaller part. Every instant, somewhere in the vast flood of destruction, a hand reaches up in appeal. It is pretty apt to be a child's hand or a woman's. When the Red Cross commission reached Petrograd it asked the government, "What is the most urgent thing?" The government replied: "We must get condensed milk for the little children here." The commission got the milk. At one spot in France farm work was stopped by lack of horses. That meant more hunger. The Red Cross got in a big tractor and set it to plowing for the community.

There are a million needs. Cold, wet and the deadly physical strain of the trenches undermine men's constitutions. A frightful scourge of tuberculosis has developed in France. The Red Cross has built sanatoria, provided over a thousand beds and nurses.

Thirty Millions for France.

I have here a big sheaf of sheets filled with figures. One item is thirteen million and odd dollars—the amount which, up to that time, had gone to the local chapters of the Red Cross in the United States for local relief. Twenty-five per cent of the money subscribed through the chapters eventually goes that way.

Over thirty millions have been appropriated for work in France. Here is a million and a quarter—in round numbers—for military hospitals and dispensaries; over a million and a half for canteen service, where French and American soldiers, relieved from the trenches, can get good food, a cot, a bath, and have their clothes disinfected—and so go on for their brief holiday clean, rested, nourished. There are over three millions for hospital supply service; half a million for rest stations for American troops.

Aid of refugees—eleven thousand families—accounts for nearly three million dollars; care and prevention of tuberculosis takes over two millions; care of helpless children over a million; relief work in six devastated districts, including care of five thousand families and sufficient reconstruction to make houses habitable, required over two millions.

Misery on an Unparalleled Scale.

These are all large items; but the Red Cross is grappling with human misery on an unparalleled scale—a world of it. The item for relief of the blind amounts to four hundred thousand dollars. The dispensary service sends supplies to more than thirty-four hundred hospitals. The Red Cross receives and distributes more than two hundred tons of supplies daily at Paris. For this distribution and its other work it requires a big transportation service of motors and trucks. This transportation service has cost a million and a half, and its operating expenses run to a million dollars.

Every dollar it spends means misery alleviated. Its work is building abroad for the United States the best good will in this world. It is building the best good will among ourselves. Whatever else the war may produce, we shall be proud of our Red Cross.

I want to say to you that no other organization since the world began has ever done such great constructive work with the efficiency, dispatch and understanding, often under adverse circumstances, that has been done by the American Red Cross in France.
—General Pershing.

M. Cox Paymaster Of Soldier's Families, Is In Private Life Little Black-Eyed Mildred Cox

By EDNA HUBER CHURCH

(International News Service)
Washington, May 23.—If you have a service flag in your window, you must know "M. Cox."

Every soldier's family has a visit at least once a month from "M. Cox." A most pleasant visit it is, too, because it comes in the form of a check. "M. Cox" is the paymaster of thousands and thousands of soldiers' families. When the checks come from the Treasury Department each month for the allotment which the soldier boy makes for the folks back home, it is always countersigned by "M. Cox."

"M. Cox" sounds rather prepossessing, doesn't it? Something rather business like about it, isn't there? Well, "M. Cox" is a regular business woman, of the Emma McChesney type. Perhaps it wouldn't sound quite so business like if it read Mildred Cox, but that is the name that "M. Cox" used to go by when she was in boarding school and was a favorite with the boys. Now she is a huge favorite with the boys' families.

Mildred Cox is a deputy director in the War Risk Insurance Bureau. Part of her duties is to "pay off" the families of the soldiers who have gone over there. Before he left for the front, almost every soldier made an allotment for his family. A certain percentage of his monthly pay is kept in store for his wife, mother or sister. Then the government adds pretty nearly as much and sends it monthly to the family. This is the work of "M. Cox." She has to see to it that the thousands of wives, mothers and sisters do not want, because the government hasn't sent the monthly check.

There has been a good deal of difficulty because allotment checks have not been arriving on time. But don't blame "M. Cox." It has been a pretty big task establishing a duplicate cashier's office for the soldiers and, moreover, all of the soldiers haven't been as careful as they might in writing addresses of dependents clearly. But things are straightened out now, and from now on it is assured that the checks will come regularly.

As part of her day's work, Mildred Cox has to countersign the checks which go out. These average about 25,000 a day. Rather an enormous task for a girl, isn't it? Of course, office mechanics and new machines help her out, but "M. Cox" really does it.

Every day she spends thousands of dollars of Uncle Sam's money and she does it with a smile, too, because it is helping to keep up the morale of the folks over here, and Sammy is happier in the trench if he knows that "M. Cox" is looking after the wants of the home folks. She's a pretty little girl, too, this well-known "M. Cox." A pair of flashing black eyes that bespeak sympathy, and a winsome smile make Mildred Cox a delightful girl to meet. Her heart is in her work and she really feels that she is responsible for the comfort of every soldier's family over here. You wonderful brave men out there, don't worry about the folks home. "M. Cox" is watching out for them.

How the Red Cross Helps the Wounded in France.

The chief work of the American Red Cross in helping care for wounded soldiers lies in its co-operation with the government in supplying an efficient nursing service; in assisting the army medical corps in cases of emergency and in furnishing materials for hospitals. There were on March 1, 1918, more than 2,300 American Red Cross nurses employed in base hospitals and in French military hospitals throughout the republic of France. The total number of hospitals of various sorts in the French republic exceeds 5,000 and more than half of these are receiving all or part of their medical and surgical supplies from the American Red Cross.

As the great battles are fought this summer the Red Cross will be taxed as never before to meet the demands constantly being made upon it. Its war fund is almost depleted and it is necessary that it be replenished before a stop must come to the work which only the Red Cross can do. Therefore the second War Fund campaign was designed and another Hundred Million will be raised to carry on the work. While this amount would have seemed stupendous in pre-war times, with nearly ten billions being spent by our government in a year to carry on the war, a hundred million for humanity becomes a mere pittance. But small though it is, it will require much sacrifice to raise it. But that sacrifice really is an opportunity for the right thinking man and woman.

THOUGHT

The Scarlet Cross

What is it that you do today, who lift the Scarlet Cross?
For all the withered world is down in ruin and in loss,

And all the world hears clashing sword and hears no sound less plain—
What can you do who lift the Cross, but heal to fight again?

We guard the women left alone, heart-broken for their dead,
We save the children wandering where all save Fear has fled,

We raise again the broken towns swept down by shot and shell,
We heal again the broken souls hopeless from learning Hell—

Oh, they who saw but Grief and Hate see now our red sign plain—
We save the sad world's soul alive that War had nearly slain!

"The Star-Spangled Banner."

The best authority on the proper wording of "The Star-Spangled Banner," is the author of the song, Francis S. Key. In the course of innumerable printings of the song, differences in the text have occurred due to carelessness, bad memory or deliberate efforts to "improve" it. Of course no one has any definite authority to make changes. Several copies of the song in the author's own handwriting exist. Even these differ, but the differences are very slight, and do not affect the sense. One of these is the copy made by Key immediately after composing the poem, which he had first, after a preliminary sketch, written out on the back of an envelope. While this text is not absolutely the original it is virtually that and may be regarded as the standard. Facsimiles of this and later copies in Key's handwriting are printed together with facsimiles of early printed versions without and with music, in a book issued by the library of congress in 1914—"The Star-Spangled Banner," by Oscar George Theodore Sonneck, who discusses all the evidence about the origin of the song.

Prehistoric Man's Intelligence.

Some years ago the remains of a prehistoric man were found in central Europe in a geological stratum that showed that he existed at least 500,000 years ago, and probably more. His physical formation, especially the shape and size of the skull, left no doubt, according to scientists, that he had been a well-developed human being with a creditable degree of intelligence. He did not show the brain possibilities of modern man, it is true, but probably he did not need them, since it must have required less intellectual power to dodge the giant dinosaurs and other small-headed members of the Saurpoda family of that day, alarming though they might look, than to escape death from the predatory and terrifying automobile of today.

General Store Traded for New Jersey.

"Thirty match coats, 20 guns, 30 kettles, 1 great kettle, 30 pairs of hose, 20 fathoms of duffels, 20 petticoats, 30 narrow hose, 20 bars of lead, 15 small barrels of powder, 70 knives, 30 Indian axes, 70 combs, 60 pairs of tobacco tongs, 60 pairs of scissors, 60 tinshaw looking glasses, 120 awl-blades, 120 fish hooks, 2 grasps of red paint, 120 needles, 60 tobacco boxes, 120 pipes, 200 bells, 100 jews-harps and 6 ankers of rum."

Baker Wants Limit On Volunteers Raised To Fifty-Five Years

Washington, May 25.—Another move toward full utilization of the country's man power was made when Secretary Baker today sent to congress the draft of a bill proposing to raise the maximum age limit for voluntary enlistment in the army from 40 to 55 years. All men over 40 so enlisted would be assigned to noncombatant service.

In a letter to Speaker Clark asking that the bill be pushed, Secretary Baker said:

"Every man above the age of 40 who is enlisted in noncombatant branches of the service will make available for duty with the line troops a man within the prescribed age limit for all troops.

"Many men whose long experience as mechanics and artisans will make them particularly valuable to the various staff corps and departments, may be thus secured instead of younger men without such experience, and the efficiency of the staff corps and the departments thus will be increased."

Get a Refrigerator Worthy of You

WHAT a splendid Refrigerator! How handsome! And so beautifully easy to clean! It's just what I've been looking for!

We constantly hear such remarks. In fact, ninety per cent of our customers, after examining other styles and makes of Refrigerators, decide on a Leonard Cleanable.

This Refrigerator is so easily superior! Consider, for example, its beautiful one-piece porcelain lining. We fuse three coats of the very finest porcelain on Armco Rustless Steel, using nine different processes. This porcelain is so smooth and hard you can't scratch it even with a knife. And the porcelain is brought clear around the door frame and around the edges of the doors (an exclusive feature)—so there's not a crack or crevice anywhere for germs or grease to accumulate.

Note, too, these splendid features of the

Leonard Cleanable

Ten walls to save ice. Insulation of Polar Felt. Automatic Air-tight Locks. Double-bottom ice chamber (in case of a leak the water cannot flood down and warp woodwork). Easily cleaned in a few minutes—shelves, ice rack, drain pipe and trap all removable. Ice-cold fresh circulating air. Can be arranged for water cooler and outside piping.

So much illness is due to food kept in cheap Refrigerators that it pays to own a LEONARD CLEANABLE—most economical in the long run and not expensive even in first cost. Fifty styles and sizes—Ash, Oak or Porcelain cases. Awarded highest honor at Panama Exposition. Approved by Good Housekeeping Institute and all purchasers. Come in and let us show them to you.

PLEASANT HILL AIDS RED CROSS

At a mass meeting held at Pleasant Hill school house last night, the sum of $126 was subscribed to the Red Cross war fund. Citizens of that vicinity state that this amount will be largely increased, as the attendance at the meeting was small.

Maj. Chas. Bassett presided at the meeting and addresses were delivered by Dr. H. R. Thompson, Capt. Samuel Blackwell and others.

When Maj. Bassett called on Geo. Russell to start the subscription of with $25, the latter rebelled. "I hadn't figured on subscribing less than $50," he said.

The latter figure was accepted.

Yanks And Indians Battle For Nineteen Very Long Innings

The New York Yankees and the Cleveland Indians battled in a fiercely contested game of the national pastime for three hours and forty-eight minutes on yesterday. This game of nineteen innings is the longest of the present major league season. The honors of this occasion go to "Smoky" Joe Wood, former pitching marvel. Wood garnered off Huggins' box selection two safe hits, both going for circuit clouts, and consequently the cause of the Indians' victory. The Yankees in the last two battles have played thirty-three innings, as their game on Thursday with Chicago went fourteen rounds.

Coveleskie pitched the entire route, with Russell and Mogridge opposing him. He became more effective as the contest progressed, the locals getting only two hits off him in the last six innings. Coveleskie has worked in three extra inning performances in the last ten days. "Ping" Bodie drove in both of the Yankee runs.

The score follows:

	R. H. E.
Cleveland	3 14 1
New York	2 12 2

Batteries: Coveleskie, O'Neill; Russell, Mogridge; and Hannan, Walters.

Oath Of Allegiance Taken In 1865

The original of the oath of allegiance made on August 25, 1865, by Henry Baker of Cedar Town, Ga., a worn, yellow document now in possession of his grandson, W. A. O'Neil of Albany, and was exhibited here yesterday as also was the original of the oath made by his grandmother Mrs. Mary Ann O'Neil. These are interesting old papers and deal with the emancipation of slaves and the "support, protect and defend the Constitution of the United States." Each paper bears the endorsement of a notary.

GLAD TO TESTIFY

Says Watoga Lady, "As To What Cardui Has Done For Me, So As To Help Others."

Watoga, W. Va.—Mrs. S. W. Gladwell of this town, says: "When about 15 years of age, I suffered greatly. . . . Sometimes would go a month or two, and I had terrible headache, backache, and bearing-down pains, and would just drag and had no appetite. Then . . . it would last . . . two weeks, and was so weakening, and my health was awful.

My mother bought me a bottle of Cardui, and I began to improve after taking the first bottle, so kept it up till I took three. . . . I gained, and was well and strong, and I owe it all to Cardui.

I am married now and have 3 children. . . . Have never had to have a doctor for female trouble, and just resort to Cardui if I need a tonic. I am glad to testify to what it has done for me, so as to help others."

If you are nervous or weak, have headaches, backaches, or any of the other ailments so common to women, why not give Cardui a trial? Recommended by many physicians. In use over 40 years. Begin taking Cardui today. It may be the very medicine you need.

EARN 14 CENTS A DAY; HAS WIFE AND BABY

And Yet This True Story Has a Happy Ending.

Even a Frenchman sometimes loses, for awhile at least, his "unfailing" sense of humor.

Take, for instance, the case of a man from Lille, a soldier, Waeltele by name and only twenty-three. He had done pretty well, for the youngster had already his own printing shop in that northern French town, which is still inside the German lines. In the trenches Waeltele developed tuberculosis, and he was sent to a hospital at Grenoble.

There he was considered incurable, and after the usual three months of treatment he was granted his 14 cents a day pension. Said his fatherly army doctor, "My son, you can perhaps cure yourself if you will live in the mountains, if you will eat plenty of nourishing food and, above all, if you don't worry."

Waeltele should have smiled, but he didn't. He was thinking of his baby and his wife—and his 14 cents. "Don't worry!" The humor of it entirely escaped him.

Then the Red Cross stepped in. He was found by an American woman with some American Red Cross money for just such cases, and within a few hours he no longer had need to worry. He was sent to the mountains at La Plagne, in the French Alps, happy in the knowledge that his family was being cared for by these amazingly kind Americans.

And now the army doctor's word are coming true. Waeltele's lung is healing fast, and he is dreaming of another printing shop and of living again some day with that little family.

There have been over 400,000 new cases of tuberculosis in France since the war started, and to care for these cases and check the White Plague, spread is merely one of the big jobs the American Red Cross has set out to accomplish.

FATHER AT WAR, TRAGEDY AT HOME

Just What Home Service Means to a Soldier.

The father kisses his wife and kids goodby, shoulders his gun and marches away to war.

For a time the current of life flows smoothly for the soldier's little family. Then comes the tragedy. Mother is taken ill. The little brood of brothers and sisters is helpless. No father to turn to. A helpless mother!

To whom can the American soldier's family look at this critical period? Must a brave man's loyalty to his country mean desolation and suffering to those nearest and dearest to him?

No! Emphatically no! The American people will not permit the families of their soldiers and sailors to suffer because their breadwinners are fighting for their country. And so the Red Cross Department of Civilian Relief has created a nation-wide organization for home service for the families of soldiers and sailors.

Under the banner of "Home Service" patriotic men and women have enrolled and are devoting themselves to the noble task of helping soldiers' families to meet and adjust the problems of everyday life and aiding them to maintain the standards of health and education and industry.

Home Service—True Service.

Home service means keeping the soldier's children well and in school. It means tiding the family over financial troubles, arranging the household budget, meeting insurance premiums, adjusting a mortgage, bringing medical aid and legal advice to bear at the right moment. In short "Home Service" is true service, in that it provides the warm handclasp of friendship rather than the humiliation of charity. It calls for sympathetic understanding, and intelligent consideration of the most vital needs of the soldier's family.

The Red Cross is pledged to "Home Service" wherever needed in the United States. In each chapter of the Red Cross there will be a home service section, under competent hands, whose mission will be to protect the welfare of the soldiers' and sailors' homes and to safeguard the normal development of their families in employment and in ideals of self help and self reliance.

Registration Of German Women Begins June 17

The following is authorized by the Department of Justice:

The general rules and regulations for the registration of German alien females have been prescribed and issued by the Attorney General of the United States under the authority of the president's proclamation dated April 19, 1918, issued after the amendment, by act of congress approved April 16, 1918, of section 4067 of the Revised Statutes concerning alien enemies, so as to include women.

The registration throughout the continental United States will begin on Monday, June 17, 1918, and continue on each day thereafter, excluding Sunday, June 23, 1918, up to and including Wednesday, June 26, 1918.

In Charge of War-Work Division
The registration will be made under the direction of the War-Work Division of the Department of Justice and will be conducted for the department in cities or municipalities having a population of 5,000 or over by the federal census of 1910, by the police officials, and in communities having a population of less than 5,000, by the same census (which communities are termed in the regulations "nonurban areas"), by the postmasters. In such cities or municipalities the registration will take place in the police stations in the various police precincts, and in such nonurban areas or communities the registration will take place in the post offices.

Finger Print Registration
In general, the plan of the registration of German alien females is the same as that followed in the registration last February of the German alien males.

Each person who must register will be required to register her finger prints. The finger printing is not to be taken as an imputation that the registrant is not a law-abiding person. It is a method of identification simply. This method is observed in the military and naval service of the United States and is, as well, in general use for identification purposes.
